2. The ship was escorted from Sommers Island (N60-12, E27-40) to the Leningrad Lightship by a small naval vessel. The vessel was about 50 to 60 feet long; it had two guns astern of the bridge and depth charges on the stern. 50X1-HUM
3. On the way to Kronstadt (N59-59, E29-45), naval transport ship, which was probably an old type of passenger ship. It had a gun turret with two barrels on the foredeck and a gun turret with two barrels on the afterdeck. The guns were probably 76 mm. The ship also had some antiaircraft guns astern of the bridge. 50X1-HUM
4. West of Leningrad Lightship, a vessel with the lines of a minesweeper was observed. The vessel had one gun on the foredeck, one gun on the afterdeck, and one stack. was also observed in the same area; it had one gun on the foredeck, and two guns on the afterdeck; this vessel had one gun on the foredeck, with two smaller guns astern of it on each side of the forward edge of the bridge. The mast was located astern of the bridge. The ship had one stack, and there were two guns, one to starboard and one to port, aft of the stack. A larger gun was located on the afterdeck. Depth charges, covered with tarpaulins, were located on the stern. The ship had a rounded stern. 50X1-HUM
5. The OKTYABRSKAYA REVOLYUTSIYA lay at anchor in Kronstadt, outside of the harbor. A destroyer lay under cover of the cruiser. In Kronstadt harbor, two cruisers; the break in the deck of these cruisers was located aft of the second stack. Darkness prevented detailed observations of these ships. 50X1-HUM
6. following ships in Kronstadt Harbor: 50X1-HUM
 - a. Two cruisers, of an old type; they were located one behind the other.

- b. Two new cruisers [] were anchored separately.
- c. Naval transport vessel [] had three stacks.
- d. One vessel with lines like a frigate; [] and it may have been a rebuilt destroyer. 50X1-HUM
- e. One old artillery ship, with heavy guns.
- f. One three-masted training ship.
- g. Three small naval vessels.
- h. Five small submarines; which were always berthed in the western harbor.
- i. The OKTYABRSKAYA REVOLYUTSIYA; at this time it was inside the harbor.
- j. One unusually large submarine in the middle harbor; [] did not observe any guns [] on the submarine. 50X1-HUM
- k. Naval vessel [] in the eastern harbor. 50X1-HUM
7. Outside of Kronshtadt Harbor, [] observed naval vessel [] which had one stack, two guns on the foredeck, and three guns of the afterdeck. [] also observed a gray cargo ship of about 5,000 tons outside the harbor. It had gun platforms, but [] could not observe any guns. 50X1-HUM
8. In the Marti Shipyard at Leningrad, [] naval transport vessel which was either being repaired or rebuilt. Work was in progress on the bridge [] The ship was about 5000 tons. Just astern of this ship there was an old naval vessel, which [] was either a small cruiser or a large destroyer. It had no masts or stacks, but there was work being done on the bridge. Forward of the naval transport vessel, behind a plank barrier, [] another naval vessel. [] this vessel was a cruiser because the bridge construction and tower were similar to the ones on the cruisers [] in Kronshtadt Harbor. In the same workshop area [] a vessel which the workmen were plating. [] the shipyard was being rebuilt in the south end of Marti. [] two new ships were being constructed. 50X1-HUM
